

TELEHEALTH INFORMED CONSENT

In order for your telehealth session, to run smoothly, please adhere to the following guidelines:

Give yourself a few extra minutes to log on the first time to make sure you have set up your account correctly. Ensure that your internet, camera, and audio are working properly.

Attend the online session as if you were coming in to the office in person.

That is:

No eating while in session unless agreed upon ahead of time for therapeutic purposes only.

No driving while in session or participating in your therapy session while in a moving car.

Be sure to find a private place to speak, preferably indoors, so you won't be interrupted and can talk freely.

Please dress appropriately and be prepared to attend your therapy session.

No logging on from your bed or in your pajamas.

Please text me ahead of the session if you need a few minutes to get settled and ready.

If the TherapySites platform is not working, we may choose to utilize another platform such as FaceTime with the knowledge that Face Time is not HIPAA compliant.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.
